St. Mary the Virgin, Payhembury

Vol 57 No 12 June 2025

On Bank Holiday Monday, 5 May, we all enjoyed a barbecue and drinks served by Carole, Don and their team. The barbecue food was donated by Carole and Don to raise money for Help for Heroes—£480 was the result for this worthwhile cause. Thank you to The Six Bells for their generosity. Editor

Rectory notes – Joy!

I confess to writing this month as much as a sports fan – a football fan in particular – as a vicar. I support Crystal Palace, and am writing this within 24 hours of their historic win in the FA Cup Final. This is for all supporters and participants of sport, indeed for all with a passion for something!

I've supported Palace since a child and am now 62. They've never won a trophy. They've suffered numerous relegations, celebrated promotions, toppled great teams on memorable occasions. But in 120 years never this. "Better to have loved and lost than never to have loved at all" will be a familiar feeling for many sports fans. Yesterday's feeling? I can only describe it as beyond joy, a sort of sublime peace. And simple gratitude.

Personal stories always interweave these grand narratives. Penalty-saving-hero goalkeeper Dean Henderson spoke afterwards of his father having died at the start of the season, and that all of this was for him. Palace's first ever FA Cup Final was in 1990, the first season after my own father died. The opposition? Poignantly Manchester United, my father's team.

And then there's match-winner Eberechi Eze (see the picture above). The vicar is slipping in here, but anyone would have been struck, I think, by the simple open response he managed to utter when overcome in his post-match interview, "Honestly, I'm just grateful... Only God can do this, man!"

Palace went yesterday from being a team that had never won anything to one that had. The universe itself had shifted, it felt. It does that. In our tragedies too. We are surely interconnected, part of something greater – and ultimately glorious.

All power to Feniton FC, our school football clubs, and to all our wonderful local sports clubs. Tomorrow I'll be visiting both our primary schools – and will be donning my red and blue scarf, like a joyful child myself.

Payhembury Weather www.payhembury-weather.co.uk Weather for April 2025

Rainfall: April was marked by a dry start and end but with 8 days of rain in the middle. On the 18/19th April we had over 40 mm, which is a lot, hence the monthly total being above average. May is turning out to be an exceptionally dry month with virtually no rain in the first half of the month. Luckily the Devon reservoirs are pretty full at present.

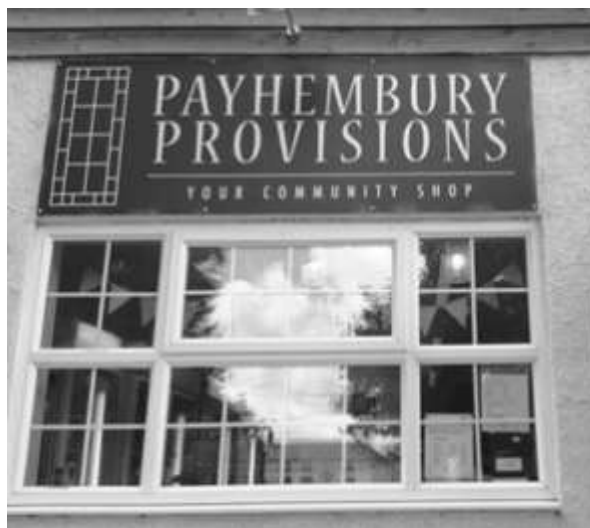

Temperatures: Daytime temperatures in April have been nearly 5 degC above average with a record warm April temperature of almost 25 degC on 30 April. This is exceptional. Sunshine averages have also been well above the norm. The weather has also been warm in May but initially with chilly nights.

Weather elsewhere: Iraq was hit by its most severe sandstorm of 2025 on 5th May. Visibility dropped to less than half a mile, causing travel disruptions, with two major airports halting flights. Respiratory problems sent thousands to hospital. The sand storm frequency and severity have increased due to prolonged drought, desertification, and rising temperatures. A major power outage affected Spain, Portugal, and parts of southern France on 28th April resulting in widespread disruptions to transportation, communication, and public services. It has been suggested that a “rare atmospheric phenomenon” was responsible for triggering the blackout but I have seen no clear evidence as I write this. It will be interesting to find the root cause to ensure our National Grid is robust.

Payhembury Weather April 2025

There's a lot going on. It may not seem like it, but there is. Some of it is pretty obvious and no one can have missed the big hole behind the shop and the new footings going in.

There's a new end to the shop too, a change that we all get accustomed to quite fast. Rob built that for us for which we are grateful and it has given us some rather oddly shaped extra storage space inside. In due course we will open up the wall in the back office to gain entry to it and it will house freezers and chillers and give us a bit more room for the 'back room boys and girls'. There will also be additional upstairs space where we will be able to keep better storage of paperwork and make the stock a little easier to store and replenish.

Like ants working underground you'll probably see very little of this building activity but it will be happening and the end result that you will see is both a calmer set of volunteers and committee members and some new freezers on the shop floor.

There is constant maintenance and replacement of equipment in the shop needed because of wear and tear and the occasional accidental power surge which "popped" a few bits of kit just recently.

Life, as someone once said (oh, it was me) is one contestant round of maintenance and the shop is no different; from maintaining the equipment to maintaining a steady rota of volunteers.

There's a lot going on.

BROADHEMBURY GARDENING CLUB

Our Plant Sale on 17th May was a great success making over £1100 which will help toward having great speakers for the Club for the next year. How lucky we were to have such ideal weather for it. We are very grateful to all those who helped both with donations and on the day.

On the 4th June at 7.30 pm at the Memorial Hall we welcome back Alan French speaking on Early Summer Plants. Many of you will know Alan for all the beautiful plants he brings.

Paul's Nature Notes April-May 2025

The spring migration has produced many interesting birds: Black Redstart , Cetti's Warbler, Cirl Bunting, Garden Warbler, Marsh Tit, Redpoll, Reed Bunting, Tree Pipit and Hawfinch may even be breeding near Escot.

Another aspect of having three birdsong monitoring devices around the village has been to discover the number of wader and seabird species migrating through – a staggering 40 species. I doubt anyone would have ever expected that this far inland.

These have been by no means the only rarities. Tree Sparrows have been actually seen in Markers Park. You might think this unlikely until you realise that they may be breeding near Escot – that's no distance at all as the crow flies. A White Stork was detected for a couple of days and we have seen the return of a rare Golden Oriole. Two days prior to its arrival they had been seen on the Scilly Islands and only one day before in North Devon.

There is also a captive breeding programme for Red-billed Chough at Escot. A call was again picked up in Markers Park by Joe – looks as though someone may have been careless over in Wildwood and one escaped as the habitat around here is just wrong! This has followed close on the heels of the Black-crowned Night Heron which is still popping up, yet another suspected escapee from a breeding programme.

On the home front, our special breeding species, Spotted Flycatcher and Common Redstart, have made a very welcome return and I can only hope that the rampant crowd of cock pheasants patrolling the garden do not disturb them, as so many other birds have been. These pheasants are more than just a nuisance: they are extremely noisy, very territorial and incredibly destructive trampling the freshly planted out veg and flower beds and destroying my moth trap when one got into the greenhouse. Our Blue Tits have had a dreadful time. It is too early to tell but it may be due to a lack of food.

By the way, should anyone want a copy of the parish bird list I will be more than happy to email them one.

Hello Villagers

I do hope you are all well enough to enjoy this lovely weather, and will be able to come and enjoy one of our coffee mornings. A big Thank you to one of our new hosts, Rachel and Chris, for hosting our April coffee morning, and for the yummy Easter biscuits, also for showing us how we can turn one table into two. Just like magic.

Congratulations and lots of love to our next hosts, Brian and Pat Salter, who will be celebrating their 65th wedding anniversary on Wednesday 18th June. Their coffee morning is on the same day between 11 - 12pm at their home, Peppers, Markers Park, and they are very kindly letting us share their special day.

Important Notice from Payhembury School: Protecting Our School Wild Area

We are excited to announce that our school Wild Area is undergoing a transformation, thanks to the generous fundraising efforts of our FOPS. We have amazing plans and are working hard, turning the space into a wonderful environment for our children to explore and learn.

Unfortunately, we've noticed an increase in trespassing during weekends and school holidays. Some individuals have been entering the area without permission, causing damage and creating safety concerns.

We kindly ask for your vigilance:

- Report any suspicious activity to the school office.
- Respect the boundaries of the Wild Area; it is private property.
- Encourage others to appreciate the space from a distance and not to enter without permission.

Your cooperation helps ensure that our children's space remains safe and enjoyable. Thank you for your support and understanding.

£1.5 MILLION TO EMPOWER DEVON COMMUNITIES TO ACT ON CLIMATE ISSUES

Libraries and grassroots groups join forces for region-wide programme backed by the National Lottery. Communities across Devon are set to benefit from a major new climate action initiative thanks to £1.5 million in National Lottery funding.

The five-year project – Together for Tomorrow – will be led by Libraries Unlimited, the charity commissioned to run the libraries in Devon and Torbay, in partnership with CAG(Community Action Group)Devon, a vibrant network of grassroots sustainability groups supported by environmental consultancy Resource Futures, and will involve a wide range of local partners across the region.

Harnessing the power of libraries as trusted, accessible spaces, Together for Tomorrow will support people across the region to take practical, meaningful climate action right on their doorstep.

Running over a five-year period, the programme will support the transformation of these spaces into hubs where local people can take sustainability-focused action: from establishing repair cafés and community fridges to growing schemes, sewing groups and workshops on low-waste living. The programme will connect new and existing groups, offer training and resources, and help communities turn ideas into impact with the ambition of reducing waste, promoting sustainable living and introducing new audiences to climate action.

The project's vision – 'more people, doing more things, more of the time' – is focused on inclusion, resilience and community connection. Together for Tomorrow brings together a diverse collaboration of community groups and organisations, each rooted in their local area and playing an active role in shaping and delivering climate action.

These include several community groups (Action for Climate Teignbridge (ACT), Blackdown Hills EcoHub, Proper Job, Earth Action North Devon, Sustainable Tiverton, Sustainable South Hams, Transition Exmouth, and Uffculme Green Team), which will contribute skill sharing, networking, toolkit development and peer mentoring.

The programme will also involve numerous outreach organisations (Active Devon, Honeyscribe, and Ride-on Cycling), while additional fundraising and engagement support for the programme will be provided by Devon Community Foundation and Devon Communities Together. Funded through the National Lottery Climate Action Fund.

Payhembury School Choir triumph at Devon County Show

The programme included:

The children were absolutely brilliant; it was a wonderful occasion and an experience they will never forget. Their dedication and hard work throughout the year really shone through. Well done to all involved.

The Parish Paper in Payhembury has been going for nearly 58 years. We are committed to continuing to deliver it free to each household in the parish every single month of the year. Grateful thanks again to our team of volunteers who deliver each month. Extra copies are available in the shop; if you take one, please pay a donation of 50p into the collecting box.

THE PARISH PAPER
St. Mary the Virgin, Payhembury

Our only costs are printing which is £3100 per year. We couldn't continue without the support of businesses who advertise with us and in total this creates an income of about £2700. In addition we are grateful to the parish council who support us with a donation of £250 per year.

This doesn't quite add up, so each year we appeal to our readers to donate towards our costs. With this edition you will find a donation envelope. If you could drop this into the shop with some cash in it, that would be wonderful. If you do not use cash, please consider making a bank transfer to: Payhembury Parish Paper, sort code 20-30-47, account number: 50531065

If anyone would like to write a promotional piece for their business in addition to or instead of an advertisement, please let us know.

Thank you from the Parish Paper Committee (Christine, Ciara, Sue, Ceri, Di, Kate, Naomi and Jane)

We are mid May as I write – the sun is shining and surely the weather couldn't be better for cricket ? You might think so but not if you're a Miller as, despite our best efforts, the season has started with three consecutive defeats – if I knew how to make a very sad face in print I would !

The run started in late April with a 39 run defeat to Clyst Hydon, who made a not unbeatable 108-5 on a sticky track, but we just couldn't get any momentum in our reply and despite Jon Pengelly making 26 not out off 24 balls and putting the rest of us to shame, the season had begun with a crushing defeat. We then moved on to one of our favourite grounds to visit, down at Killerton in the grounds of the main house, a truly English village cricket setting. Broadclyst started with intent and, despite Mark Hammett taking a wicket in the first over, they found the wicket a little too comfortable and posted 175-4 , I can't remember if we've ever conceded quite that many and yet we didn't actually bowl that badly. On another day our 128-5 in response might not have been a bad effort but, as the evening moisture got into the outfield and slowed the ball down (yes honestly), so the target became less threatened. Some very nice pasties and doughnuts after the game, interesting combo , maybe partially explains why we aren't a team of little skinny chaps that a gust of wind might blow over.

Coaver Club at County Hall in Exeter, home to Sunsets CC, was our next destination and not for the first time the artificial track didn't suit our bowlers as, despite us setting the oppo a strong total of 145, they reached the target with time to spare! Valuable contributions from Dave Kittow (28), Ben Peters (26), Jon Pengelly (22) and Simon Kittow (28) put us in with a decent shout , but indifferent bowling from the very same Ben Peters – 0-37 off two overs (Ouch) and the same Jon Pengelly (0-29 off 2 overs) made life a little too comfy for the batters and we were happy to see the Sun – Set on that game.

Fingers crossed that the upcoming home games will see us overcome the psychological barrier that we clearly have developed about winning – I'm sure its more connected to us missing the pre match Thatchers and Ed's excellent after match grub than anything that goes deeper but we may yet need a Sports Psychologist afore another month is out. Anyone keen to give a motivational team talk, please email me.

Upcoming home games with bar open are Branscombe on Friday 30th May, Coaver Gerries on Tuesday 3rd June and Talaton Inn on Friday 6th June.

Up the Millers!

We have all enjoyed the new tree growth this spring, particularly the oaks. This photo was sent in by Anne Baxter, who was overwhelmed by the beauty of the oak tree in her garden. If you have a stunning nature/garden/plant photo, please think about sending it in to share with others in these pages.
